A PANIC ON A STEAMER.

The second steamer Rosedale, of the Bridgeport line, which left New York yesterday afternoon for Bridgeport and other sound cities, sprung a leak off Fort Schuyler and had to put in at City Island. The passengers, numbering about one hundred, were landed there, and continued their journey by train over the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

There is only one conveyance from City Island to the Barlow Railroad station. It is a small three car that carries about a dozen passengers, and is drawn by a team of mules. This conveyance was loaded quite for the passengers and many of them, including women, declared that they had to walk from the landing place to the railroad station, a distance of nearly three miles.

A drizzling rain was falling, which added to the discomforts of the trip, and a high gale fairly lifted some of the women off their feet and scattered their bundles and baggage on the ground. The women were mostly shoppers, who had come from Connecticut towns to spend the day in the city. Some of them had had a very bad experience when they learned that the steamer had sprung a leak.

The Rosedale had an extremely rough trip up the sound. A fierce northeast gale blew all afternoon, and the waves were so high that they washed the lower decks. Some of the passengers were outside at the rail when they discovered a leak in the port side of the hull. The leak must have been discovered by the captain and crew about the same time that the passengers saw the steamship rushing to the speaking tube and heard him shout to the engine: "If you don't get to City Island she'll turn turtle."

With this the engine began to pound and the steamer put in for City Island at once. The news of the leak spread rapidly among the passengers, and all rushed among them and secured them there was no danger, nearly everyone was frightened and women went into hysterics. There was a rush among some passengers to get their baggage and belongings on deck and for a while a small panic existed.

When the steamer reached City Island the men passengers had cooled down, but the cabins were filled with women who believed that the boat was going to pieces in the storm. Every one was greatly relieved when the steamer finally drew up to the dock and the gang planks were let down.

The vessel did not sink, and the captain said the leak could be patched up.

CHILD-WIFE NO VAGRANT.—Fourteen-year-old Clara Thompson was arraigned in New Brunswick, N. J., yesterday, charged with being incorrigible and a vagrant, the charge being preferred by her mother, Mrs. William Bernhardt. The girl's counsel proved by a marriage certificate that the girl was the wife of Jacob Bernhardt. To complete the astonishment of the court, it was brought out that the girl's husband was the brother of her stepfather and that she was therefore the sister-in-law of her mother and stepfather. Judge Strong had no option but to dismiss the case.

A Testimonial From Old England.

"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the best in the world for bronchitis," says Mr. William Savory, of Warrington, England. It has saved my wife's life, she having been a martyr to bronchitis for over six years, having most of the time confined to her bed. She is now quite well." It is a great pleasure to the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to publish testimonials of this character. They show that great good is being done, pain and suffering relieved and valuable lives restored to health and happiness by this remedy. It is for sale by Richard Gibson, druggist.

WE GIVE NO REWARDS. An offer of this kind is the means of deception. To the curative powers of Ely's Cream Balm for the cure of Catarrh, Hay Fever and Cold in the Head and you are sure to continue the treatment. Relief is immediate and a cure follows. It is not drying, does not produce sneezing. It soothes and heals the membrane. Price 50 cents at druggists or by mail. Ely Brothers, 65 Warren Street, New York.

"Last winter I was confined to my bed with a very bad cold on the lungs. Nothing gave me relief. Finally my wife bought a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure that effected a speedy cure. I cannot speak too highly of that excellent remedy." Mr. T. K. Houseman, Massena, N.Y.

The Chidlow Institute of Milling and Baking Technology.

David Chidlow, Director.

Ogden Building, 34 Clark street.

Chicago, July 6, 1899.

Mrs. R. Corby Bros., Washington, D. C.

Gentlemen:—In accordance with your instructions to examine and report upon the bread produced at your bakery, and the processes employed in its manufacture, I have the honor to report that I visited your bakery at Brightwood avenue and spent the major portion of three days there, carefully examining and testing the flour, yeast and doughs and critically examining the baked bread. I have no hesitation in declaring that the substances used for the bread are entirely pure and of the finest quality; and the processes by which the doughs are prepared are absolutely the most perfect in the world. This arises from the use of the special machinery of which you are the inventors and proprietors, which by making dough insure a baked loaf of ideal texture and grain, ready molting on the tongue, and free from taint and acidity. Some bread was sent to the Institute for analysis which was made by Prof. G. L. Teller, who has charge of the chemical division and who reports the following:

CHEMICAL ANALYSIS OF BREAD.

Per Corby Bros., Washington, D. C.

Bread Calculated to Dry Matter

Moisture..... 36.78

Mineral salts..... 1.50..... 2.37

Proteids..... 7.38..... 11.68

1st..... 2.90..... 4.58

Carbohydrates (by difference)..... 51.44..... 51.39

From a consideration of the above facts I conclude that the bread is the more readily digested because of its accessibility to the digestive juices. The flavor is also increased by retarding the souring agents of fermentation by the very full oxygenation to which the dough is subjected. As the moisture was determined four days after the bread was baked, it proved the bread retains its moisture for a much longer period than is usual. Respectfully yours,

DAVID CHIDLOW,

Director of the Chidlow Institute of Milling and Baking Technology, Chicago.
